MC - Further Information

Please read the following to help prepare for your training

Nationally Recognised Training

This course includes the nationally recognised unit of competency TLIC4006 Drive a multi combination vehicle, which is required to upgrade your licence to MC class with TMR. Our MC Courses are designed in consultation with industry professionals and will ensure you are job ready and confident when you get your licence.

How much theory is involved?

You will be required to do some at home study prior to attending your theory class. There will be some reading and writing involved in this course. You will need to have basic levels of literacy and numeracy to be able to complete workplace forms such as run sheets, logbooks, and pre-start checklists. You'll need to have reading skills to be able to read maps and route planning. An LLN test will be conducted prior to the theory test to determine if you'd need any extra assistance to complete the assessment. If you think you might need some help with this, talk to us prior to enrolling.

Package deals

Please note that our package deal offers are not one size fits all, and that everyone learns in their own time. Additional training may be required to achieve competency. The definition of competency is that you have 'the skills and knowledge required to perform a task to the standard expected in the workplace'. If additional training is required, MC training / re assessment is charged at $150 per hour (min 4 hours). You are not paying for a licence.

Eligibility criteria

To be eligible for a Multi Combination Licence you need to have held a HR or HC licence for a minimum of 12 months consistently.

What you can drive with an MC licence

You are permitted to drive any heavy vehicle including a B Double and Road Train. (Depending on any Licence conditions or medicals required)

Medical certificates

If you have a truck licence with a medical condition, you'll need to get your medical certificate updated to cover an MC licence prior to starting your training. Make sure you always keep your medical certificate on you when driving.

Cancellation policy

Shift requires 5 working days to cancel MC training, or the full fee will be payable. Any refunds will incur a $50 administration charge plus a non-refundable amount of $1000 once you have been sent any resources.

Licence Conditions / Certificates issued

Certificates will be issued depending on the truck you take the final assessment in, if you complete the assessment in an automatic truck, your certificate will state AUTOMATIC. If you complete your assessment in a Road Ranger, you will be issued with a certificate stating NON – SYNCHROMESH. You are permitted to complete the final assessment in an automatic if you have an open licence with no conditions – when you apply to TMR for the upgrade they will issue you with an open MC licence. For more details, please contact the office.
